

The Relationship of Income, Graduation and other Variables with Delay in Marriage among Single Employed Woman

Karim Rezaoust^{*}, Iman Mombeni^{}

The purpose of this study was to explore the relationship of income, graduation and other variables with delay in marriage in single employed woman. The sample size was 400 employed women who were selected randomly and completed the questionnaire. The results showed that there were relationship between graduation, income, level of family's dependency on their daughter's income, the importance of future husband's income, economic status and immaterial expectations of future husband and delay in marriage.

Key words: marriage, delay in marriage, graduation.

* Correspondening Author: Assistant Professor of Department of Sociology, Shahid Chamran University of Ahvaz. Fax: +986113337411 Email: rezadoostk@yahoo.com

 Iranian Academic Center for Education, Culture & Research Khuzestan Branch